A DREAM OF HAPPINESS
I took a trip through dreamland
And had a vision fair
Of many happy children
And laughter in the air,
As they dived and swam and
capered
As happy as a lark
In a municipal swimming pool
Built in Sue Haswell Park.

There were many happy mothers
there
To take part in this glee,
Their eyes abeam with pleasure
As happy as could be,
To see their healthy children
Romp, and swim and play
While fathers often joined the thrill—

TRIO OF ASSAILANTS

Also Urged Recall Of Detroit Mayor For Inefficiency

DETROIT, Mich., July 23.—(P)—Three gunmen shot and killed Gerald E. Buckley, announcer at radio station WIBC, at 1:50 o'clock this morning, sitting in the lobby of the LaSalle hotel 2 1-2 hours after he had announced the recall of Mayor Charles Bowles.

The killing was the climax of three weeks of gangster killings, which paralleled the intensive and bitter campaign to recall Bowles on charges of inefficiency and toleration of lawlessness.

The entire law enforcement force of the state is busy. Governor Fred W. Green ordered Colonel J. S. Bersey, national guard adjutant, to Detroit, and flew there with Bersey. The state police here are investigating.

Buckley had opposed Bowles, also attacking, via radio, gamblers and gangsters.

Paul Buckley, brother of the deceased, said the recall was the sole reason for the shooting.

W. W. Gedge, radio station official, said Buckley had told him of threats received because of his recall activity. Police Commissioner T. C. Wilcox saw no connection with the recall, attributing the slaying to radio attacks on gamblers and gangsters.

A reward of $5,000 is offered for the killers.

6,000 pounds of choice meats and tables had been built with a capacity of approximately 1,000 diners. Hundreds of paper plates were purchased so that those who desired to enjoy the barbecue in their cars or at some other point (Continued on Page 6)

Women of Bryan Boost Candidacy Of Mrs. Rountree

Mrs. J. L. Brock, J. Webb Howell and M. W. Sims, prominent women of Bryan, were in the city Friday morning in the interest of Mrs. Lee J. Rountree's candidacy for representative of Brazos and Grimes counties. They were pleasant callers at the Daily Examiner office.

They declare they are interested in Mrs. Rountree's election because of the many good things which she has already done for this section. She is editor of The Bryan Daily and Weekly Eagle and was for some time president of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce, and she was formerly a member of the Washington Park Commission. She has often been in Navasota in the interest of worthy movements. It will be remembered that her husband represented these two counties in the legislature before his death several years ago.—Navasota Examiner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Conway and N. F. Lockard were among those from Bryan who attended the four-county barbecue on the Old San Antonio Trail today.

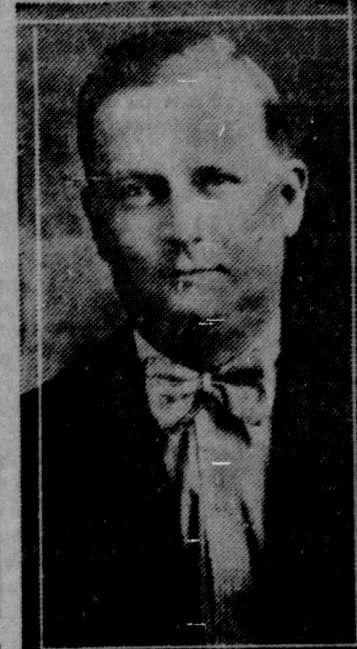

Will Rogers Says

To the Editor of The Eagle: BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 23.—The treaty passed and we knew it would. Wish they would have adopted the following resolution:

"We sign this treaty because we sent a fine delegation over and they did the best they could, and we will back 'em up, but this is the last one we will sign. While the whole idea sounds fine, it's a lot of 'hoey' in practice, you can no more tell a nation what inch gun he is to shoot you with, than you can tell him what he is to wear while shooting you, so we hereby plead with all nations, let's quit holding conferences, stop conferring, and just be friends, again."

Yours, WILL.

Home Economics Studied by Cops Of San Antonio

And he means to do it nicker by nicker, dime by dime.

Wright said he can cook meals for prisoners in the city jail for 10 cents each. This would mean a saving of at least five cents per meal, for the lowest bid received by the city from caterers seeking the contract was fifteen cents.

Wright and Chief of Police Owsen Kilday are engaged in a study of home economics at present, and are figuring up cost. They expect within a short time to install kitchen equipment in the jail and engage their own kitchen forces.

BRAZOS COUNTY

Boys' And Girls' Club Department

Club Notes and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Benson and Home Demonstration Agent Lucy Givens

One of the most profitable and enjoyable features of the 4-H Club encampment was the girls' trip to the Bryan Nursery and Floral Company and to Mrs. O. H. Swift's home. At the nursery they learned the best methods of growing various flowers and learned to identify many that were new to them. They were particularly interested in the demonstration given on the care and pruning of chrysanthemums. At Mrs. Swift's home the girls found many beautiful native shrubs and flowers. Coral berry is used effectively as a foundation planting. A bed of several different kinds of each attached the 4-H workers. Sumatran, may-pop, wild honeysuckle, wild rose and other native plants beautify the yard. All were convinced that they, too, could grow these hardy plants and are resolved to plan their yards according to methods suggested. Next year each club girl will plant native shrubs and flowers as a part of the home improvement work.

The Brazos County Federation of Women's Clubs are to sponsor beautification of home grounds again next year. Mrs. W. B. Cline states that they wish to extend the work to rural school grounds also.

At the A. and M. College Short Course special recognition will be given twenty-five outstanding 4-H girls of Texas who competed in the 1929 record and history contest. Millie Novasad and Lena Novasad of this county are two of the winners.

New Club Recruit

Perry Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Payne, is among the latest recruits to 4-H Club work. Perry was a member in Denton county before moving to Bryan, and now desires to continue a club member by taking a pen of choice E. I. Reds for his demonstration. Already Perry is taking quite an interest in community meetings and will render valuable assistance to County Agent C. L. Benson and Secretary W. R. McCulloch in providing entertainment for the many community meals.

An Inspiring Poem

At the King's Highway Club meeting on last Saturday night, Mrs. Richard Beane, principal of the school, read a beautiful and inspiring poem, "Little Things," a philosophy that should animate every life, especially the young.

Urges Feed Crops

County Agent E. Gentry of South county is urging the farmers of that section to plant every available spot to feed crops, saying it is yet time to plant legume, Sudan, peas, and peanuts. Let us do likewise in Brazos. Many farmers are going back to the old practice cutting tops and pulling fodder. All such feed will come in fine which winter is on again. Prepare now to sow fall grain for winter grazing and cover crop.

Herd Improvement Work

T. H. Royder, assistant county agent at San Antonio, is doing some fine work in herd improvement among dairy cattle in that country. Mr. Royder is a Brazos county boy, and thinks we can get far in our dairy campaign till we get rid of the ticks and begin systematic herd improvement. The bull circles being organized and the testing of herds for butterfat should at least mark the beginning of dairy progress in Brazos county.

Work is Dry Weather

"It is an ill wind that blows no body good," is corroborated during this extreme dry spell. Many farmers are taking advantage of just such weather to rid their fields of "pesky" patches of Bermuda grass, a fine thing for pastures but troublesome in field crops. It is about like Mr. Sheppard of College Station recently told us, "there is always something to do on the farm." Perhaps that is the reason why so many seek the rockers of the city, or the cool shade of the babbling brook, instead of fighting Bermuda grass, cleaning ugly fence corners, watering stock, slopping the pigs and doing a hundred and one other things already waiting for us on the farm. Yes, truly there is a lot of work always to do on the farm, but there is yet to be found the man who stays on the job and leaves his work that is not making an independent living, a thing you can not say about many who have quit the good old farm. At the recent banquet, honoring Dr. Galina, Hon. W. S. Barron cited an example of an Italian farmer who not only put in all the day, but worked in his fields at night with the result that his farm was soon paid for regardless of the fluctuations in price of farm products. A man's time is what keeps the farm factory running, but, oh, there are so many things that detract from this "farm factory" which must run constantly, if it is to succeed.

Joint Club Meet

At the called meeting of the Brazos 4-H Club Tuesday night it was decided to postpone the joint meeting with the Alliance Club on the account of election day Saturday. Cora is sending a dresser scarf worked with Indian hemstitching. Inez is entering a scarf worked with plain hemstitching.

Dress Contest Winners

Estelle Murray of Sheep Hollow and Inez Higgs of Eye are winners in the county appropriate dress contest and will enter state contest at the Short Course. Estelle will enter an afternoon dress and Inez a school dress. Other contestants were Mildred Keith of Kerten, Lena Novasad of King's Highway, Edelweiss Gerke of Kerten and Christina Marks of Eye. These young ladies chose durable but cultured custom materials. Workmanship was exceptionally good and each dress is becoming to the individual. Cost of material for the dresses averaged less than $1.50 yet all are made of good quality material and fast colors. All state that they have learned lots about construction and fitting of dresses.

Kings Highway 4-H Club Meet Saturday Night

Secretary Wilmer R. McCulloch of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce and County Agent C. L. Benson attended the 4-H Club meeting at King's Highway Saturday night, stopping at Tabor to pick up Albert Barnes and Joe Locke Jr. 4-H members of the Tabor club.

Urging attendance at the A. and M. Short Course, the Chamber of Commerce, a service organization for the farmers, and a report by Willie Novasad of her trip to Washington, D. C., were main features of the program.

Mr. McCulloch stated that the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce stands ready at all times to render every aid possible to the farmers of Brazos county, the special prizes to be awarded at the mid-winter stock show being offered in the interest of marketing feed crops through livestock. These prizes will be offered for the best baby beef, best pair lambs and best porker. He stated that calves could be left with nurse cows until September 1 and then put on feed. It was pointed out that such a demonstration would not only test out the practicality of marketing feed crops through livestock, but also make available for the home markets choice meats heretofore ordered from Kansas City and other places.

Willie Novasad, one of the four club members winning a trip to Washington, D. C., on a three-year high points of the trip, showing it to be highly inspirational and educational, and worthy the best efforts of any club boy or girl in trying to win.

Lena Novasad will have charge of the next meeting, the third Saturday night in August. A new feature was proposed at the Saturday night meeting, and that was a "question box" into which every one may feel free to drop any important question, or problem, the Chamber of Commerce and the county agent faces pleading support in an endeavor to find answers, or solutions, to questions and problems thus submitted.

Louisiana Has Perfect Anti-Tick Law But No Money; Rain to Bring About Late Feed Stuff Plantings

BY NEEL BENTLEY

Louisiana has struggled through two years of intensive campaign on the part of educational and civic forces and brought to fruition the effort of such groups to have a law passed authorizing a tick eradication campaign in that state, only to be faced with a situation that now threatens to greatly delay and handicap that work.

With what is termed to be a "perfect law" on its statute books, with federal forces and officials and workers assigned to that district more than anxious to go forward with the government's part of the program, including the allocation of funds to maintain government workers in that area, there appears to be no way by which the necessary funds coming from the state of Louisiana itself may be forthcoming. Meanwhile, in 22 tick free parishes where the law commands that the state take over the work now being done by police juries, no funds are available with which the state may carry on the work of holding back reinfestation from adjoining and nearby parishes, so that the work already accomplished is threatened with undoing to say nothing of the fact that federal forces will ultimately be moved from the state unless provision is soon made for carrying on enough cleanup work to justify their remaining within the confines of the state.

This only points out to residents of Brazos county some of the problems we will be called upon to face in coming months. While we concern ourselves with creating a local sentiment which will demand legislation providing for tick eradication work, we should keep in mind the importance of including finance measures in the bill which is to authorize forces destined to make short work of the fever tick in Texas.

If Brazos county is fortunate enough to get rain about the time that local farmers and others can dismiss the election from their minds for a few days, it is likely that a considerable acreage of late summer feed stuffs will be planted here. Early plantings of corn have not done unusually well and some of the grain sorghums planted earlier will give only a moderate yield. With the late growing season that prevails here there is to reason why hedges, dwarf maize sorghum and cow peas should mature if planted any time before the 15th of August.

None can gainsay that home grown feed or the lack of it will be a bigger item in the business and success of local farms this year than ever before. Home grown peas, plenty of milk and enough eggs for home use with a few dozen to market every week will be the saving grace and financial refuge of many farm families on Brazos county farms this winter. Incidentally, it might be remarked that more than 2,000 farmers in Texas last year demonstrated by keeping accurate records of feed costs that pork can be produced at a cost of about 4 cents a pound on home grown feeds.

Warm and sugar plantations of Louisiana are being converted to fields of alfalfa, soy beans and cow peas and these in turn are being fed to livestock with a profit to the operators who now face the problem of finding some way to restore to profitable productivity, land that in 50 years has declined in fertility to a point where the average annual yield is only 7 tons of sugar cane per acre where formerly 47 to 50 tons per acre were produced.

Row binders are being tried out in Brazos county for the first time this year, and the winter months will bring evidence to farmers that grain sorghums bound with heads and fodder in one bundle will provide an excellent feed conveniently arranged for storage and feeding. That grain binders if properly cared for are a good investment is evidenced in the fact that two machines of that type which have been in use in Denton county on one farm for 22 and 24 years respectively, are going so trouble. They are kept under an implement shed between seasons and given a thorough overhauling before the cutting season begins each summer.

Realizing that the cow, the sow and the hen are to prove their everlasting friendship for farmers in this section this year, it might be well to sum up briefly what the farmer has a right to expect of each hen and each cow that is furnished a meal ticket for the winter on Brazos county farms.

Ten poultry demonstrators in Floyd county during the past year turned in reports at the end of the first six months showing an average profit above feed costs of $1.21 per hen. These flocks ranged in number from 14 to 567 hens and the average number of eggs per hen over the six months period was 79 eggs, with the low flock average lined at 60 eggs per hen and the high flock reaching 140 eggs per hen. The average cost of production from records submitted on these ten flocks was 10 1-2 cents per dozen and the average selling price for the entire six months was 24 cents per dozen. Good housing, proper feeding and careful management are combined with this good showing. Doubtless some credit is due to the selection of breed to lay stock.

Texas farmers have proven that butter fat may be produced at a cost of less than 20 cents per pound by the use of well balanced rationing and home grown feeds and an Illinois farmer recently proved by accurate weighing and testing that a cow producing 350 pounds of butter fat per year pays him 5 times as much profit as the one producing only 150 pounds per year.

This is just an argument for hens and cows capable of production that reaches above the marginal volume. They must pay their board with a fair profit besides, else they had better be sold or slaughtered for home table use.

More home grown feed, more cows, more hens, more porkers, lambs and beef calves. That's what we need on Brazos county farms and the tomato patches already well fertilized and corn fields where the yield is only fairly good ought to be available for late planting of grain sorghums and cow peas that will be worth a lot in helping Brazos county farmers through what promises to be a "tight squeeze" before planning time comes next spring," said an interested citizen today.

BRYAN YOUTH INJURED THRU HEADON CRASH

CHARLES EDGE HAS NARROW ESCAPE SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Charles Edge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Edge and junior partner in the firm of Eugene Edge & Son, narrowly escaped death and was painfully injured in a headon automobile crash about midway between Gause and Milano Junction Saturday evening. Mr. Edge was taken at once to a sanitarium at Temple where his injuries were given attention.

Mr. Edge suffered the loss of a number of front teeth in the lower jaw, cuts on the forehead and beneath the chin and minor cuts and bruises.

According to Eugene Edge who went to the assistance of his son as soon as he received news of the accident that took him to Temple, Charles Edge was driving to Austin for the week-end. Approaching him was a truck and two men, in a new Chevrolet, passed the truck on the wrong side and Mr. Edge, who saw that he would hit either the truck or the car, chose the car at that time as there was no time to spare to avoid one or the other.

Persons who saw the Chevrolet past said that it was being driven at a high rate of speed. Mr. Edge, when he saw a collision was inevitable, pulled down but could not entirely check his speed. The Chevrolet was completely wrecked and the front of the Edge car was seriously damaged.

The Chevrolet is said to have been the property of M. Blakely of Milam county and one occupant of the car, said to be the driver, was badly injured.

Program Outlined for Farmers Short Course That Opens July 28; Many Prominent Men to Appear

COLLEGE STATION, July 24. Completion of detailed program for the twenty-first annual Farmers Short Course at the A. & M. College of Texas July 28-Aug. 1, as announced by Extension Service officials, discloses a wide range of discussion in agricultural and home making fields for men and women, boys and girls. Numerous recognized experts, including W. F. Schilling of the Federal Farm Board, Dr. O. E. Baker, bureau of agricultural economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, and others will contribute to the general program, while the group programs will be conducted by specialists of much experience in their respective fields.

All told, the five day gathering comprises a series of addresses and talks covering the general field of agricultural endeavor with emphasis on modern methods and particular attention to timely phases. Attendance is expected to be around 5,000 with the representation of 4-H Club boys and girls equalling last year's record of 1,700.

President T. O. Walton of the college will formally open the short course with an address Monday morning, July 28. Director O. B. Martin of the Extension Service will preside at the opening session.

The program has been so planned as to offer sessions of particular appeal to members of every group. Special group sessions for men, boys, women and girls have been worked out and general entertainment features, including historical and agricultural pageants entitled "Texas, the Magnificent," will be presented Thursday night on the lawn at Gause Hall, will augment the more serious group discussions and talks.

A series of general lecture programs dealing with the farm problem from three aspects—efficient utilization of land, efficient distribution of farm products and cutting the costs of production—will be held in the mornings. These discussions are expected to appeal particularly to farmers and county agents. Dean E. J. Kyle of the school of agriculture, A. & M. College, will open this series with a discussion of "The Triangle of Agriculture." Other speakers who will appear in the series of farm problem talks will include: Dr. Gus W. Dyer, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. O. E. Baker, senior agricultural economist, bureau of agricultural economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture; W. F. Schilling, member Federal Farm Board; John C. Burns, manager Texas Livestock Marketing Association, Fort Worth; Lawrence Westbrook, organization manager, Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, Dallas, and others.

Speakers for these night programs will include Dr. Gus W. Dyer, Nashville, Tenn.; W. F. Schilling, member Federal Farm Board; Mrs. E. Davis, Arlington; Hon. Tom Connally, United States Senator for Texas.

Group sessions for subject matter consideration will be held in the afternoons for men, and in the mornings and afternoons for women and girls and for boys. The subject matter programs for men will be given over to discussion of poultry, livestock, field crops and farm engineering and horticulture.

Homemakers programs for women and girls will feature subjects of especial interest to farmwomen and girls. Recaps of Texas Master Farm Homemakers will be accorded at the opening of these group sessions Monday morning, July 28.

For the sake of convenience the groups of boys and girls will be divided into sections the boys into four sections and the girls into five sections. Each section of the boys group will receive the same program in turn as will be the case with the girls group.

Special meetings to be held during the period of the short course and in conjunction with it include: County Superintendents' Conference, direction Prof. W. L. Hughes department of rural education, A. & M. College; Texas Beekeepers' Association, July 28-29, Dr. S. W. Billing, department of entomology, A. & M. College, in charge; Agricultural Writers Conference, sessions every afternoon, A. D. Dreams Come True

Progress and improvement usually result from leadership by some individual, organization or public service agency. The developments of interest and value to the community at large, that have been recorded in Bryan in recent years, may be traced to the community leadership that has brought these matters to the attention of the citizenship and followed them through to completion.

In the past year the Eagle has advocated a number of improvements for Bryan. Among these have been the reduction of rates for electric current, the elimination of a sewer charge, the location of an airport in Bryan, the installation of a swimming pool in Sue Haswell Memorial park and the purchase by the Bryan city commission of a street sweeper so that residence streets might be cleaned at least once each week and the business section every twenty four hours.

Already the sewer rental charge has been eliminated by the city commission and study is being given the matter of lowering electric light and power rates. The city commission also is considering the purchase of a motor driven street sweeper, the operation of which would serve to materially improve sanitary conditions in the city and help solve the drainage problem in some areas by keeping gutters clear of mud and other debris.

Tuesday the Bryan Lions got solidly behind the swimming pool project and will take this matter up with the park board. This organization has demonstrated a keen interest in municipal affairs and in the past has gone to considerable expense in building a wading pool in the park for small children and in equipping a playground for them. Boosting the swimming pool project should come naturally to this energetic group of business and professional men and there is more reason to look forward with confidence to the day when Bryan will boast a municipal pool than before the club took this action.

It would appear that all the improvements listed above are on the way to realization. Even the airport will come, if we but plug along at this project and lose no opportunity to impress its importance in the future development of Bryan. The Eagle has advocated these projects believing they were to the best interest of the community and the fact that they are being worked out, with the support of officials and citizens, is a matter of deep satisfaction. In the future, as in the past, the Eagle will be wide awake to overlook no opportunity to serve what it regards the best interests of Bryan and Brazos county.

Uncle Sam and Cotton

Despite the present low price of cotton there are factors bound to affect the cotton market that may be expected, with more than a little show of reason, to favorably affect the situation. All of these have their origin in the working of the farm relief plans of the federal farm board and in the new plan of operation for the cotton cooperative.

One of the important announcements by the farm board, from the point of view of the cotton grower, is that the cotton on which the farm board has loaned cooperative money will not be put on the market in competition with the 1930 crop. This cotton is said to total approximately 1,250,000 bales and the disposition of this part of the surplus has been a matter which has held the attention of all interested in the outcome of the present season. There is little question but that if this amount of cotton were dumped on the market this fall prices would be lower than otherwise would be the case.

The statement that this cotton would be transferred to the stabilization corporation and would not be thrown on the market was made by Carl Williams of Oklahoma, cotton member of the federal farm board, to Congressman James P. Buchanan. What the stabilization board will do with this staple, other than to hold it for some time to come, is not worrying the cotton grower. The prospect that ultimately it may be sold at a loss is not, he figures, any part of his worry. It may be argued that since the holding up of wheat, purchased to protect the market, did not have that effect, so far as the 1930 crop is concerned, the withholding of this volume of cotton may not.

But it must be remembered that cotton is not a world crop and that this country produces more than half the cotton of the world. The amount held by the stabilization corporation, it is noted, is a considerable part of the hold-over from the 1929 crop.

The other announcement of interest was made Tuesday by Mr. Williams. It is to the effect that the farm board, through the cotton cooperatives, will loan at least 65 percent of the market value of cotton of the 1930 crop. Mr. Williams intimated that the board would stretch a point to increase this percentage—that it would make its loan basis just as liberal as possible.

The citizen who is not directly interested in cotton or wheat may wonder what the outcome of the whole plan may be. There is a likelihood of a fairly heavy surplus cotton crop this year. It may well be that the farm board, if it loans heavily, may have another million or more bales to turn over to the stabilization corporation if the same policy of protecting the 1931 crop is followed as has been announced with relation to the 1930 crop. But whether or not the surplus wheat and cotton is gathered up by a benevolent government board year after year, finally to be sold at a loss that might wipe out the $500,000,000 that was appropriated for farm relief, the cotton grower need not worry about going into competition with government held cotton this fall and may find satisfaction in the fact that Uncle Sam still will have money to loan on his harvested crop.

Up in Grand Rapids one year of the city manager plan of government, coupled with ordinary business practices, has turned a cash deficit of $1,311,873.53 into a surplus of $176,974.74. Bryan knows from experience that good business practices pay when handling public money as well as when handling private funds.

Don't try to vote more than once next Saturday, but vote as early as possible.

Lights and Shadows On Manhattan Isle

BY O. G. MINTYRE

LONDON, July 23.—Most wanderers in London make a bee line for the heart of green England—the highly publicized country-side with its beautiful Georgian estates and country taverns. I like to journey afoot in the deepening dusk through the wretched squalor of the glowering East India Docks Road.

Through Poplar, Stepney and Limehouse—the world of seafaring men glorified by Jacobs and the world of dark causeways, glorified by Thomas Burke. There, especially in that part of Limehouse skirting the river, one finds a sort of underworld life rarely found in any other part of the world.

The street lamps gleam an indigo blue faintly and many paned windows of the motley array of shops are covered with dust. Chinese stand dully and unwinking in doorways. There is the musty odor of ale and the scraping of cheap gramophones. Everybody seems undernourished and life forms a thick green scum.

My wife and I were told by a hotel porter we should have a guide—it was dangerous—but somehow I have never feared the slums although otherwise timid. We had tea and hot muffins, so British and unexpected, in Limehouse Court, a queer little chit of a street cluttered with lodgings houses, ale and grocers' shops.

Poverty in Limehouse is accepted grimly but not with resentment. The courtesy of Limehouse to me is expressed in that subaqueous roadway known as Blackwell Tunnel. A notice board asks drivers entering it to walk their horses. A notice at the other end anticipates obedience with: "Thank you driver."

The struggle for life here is always incessantly cruel and sometimes it becomes stealthy. It would be natural if inquisitiveness were regarded as impertinence but it never is. The children are sensitive and stop playing at the approach of strangers but they do not jeer or shout as they do in New York's Ghetto.

The cockney has a sullen exterior but he retains a good humor under all conditions. The slyest wit England produces is out of the mouths of cockneys. In Limehouse alone he remains unchanged. His flat bowler derby, amusing swaggar and many pearl buttoned short coat are still his insignia—the true "limey."

Returning to London late we drove through Houndsditch—a hangout for cab drivers. The pubs were lined with those waiting for the after-theatre rush. The comically bonneted women were haranguing their 'Arries and 'Aifs. Everybody was sipping ale and dipping heavily into the bar-lunch of the famous cockle, whelk, jellied eel and oyster patties. It was a jubilant din and typically London. I loved it.

The stones and bricks of Mayfair bespeak a royal cloquence. In almost every large American city there is now an exclusive social and dancing club called "The Mayfair." The aristocratic Park avenue is called Manhattan's Mayfair. London's Mayfair proper takes its name from the fair held there every May and is a lily growing out of the bog. It was once as notorious as Whitechapel—a place far more convenient than holy matrimony. Fortunes who live in Mayfair usually have homes in the country or Scotland and it seemed desolate this morning. Mayfair's best known street is Curzon. Its dignified architecture has recently been augmented by one of London's newest and most striking temples—the Church of Christ Scientist.

It just occurs to me that an excellent writing man really discovered Mayfair for America. We heard little of this powdered area until Michael Arlen made it fashionable. Arlen, incidentally, has settled down to a life of simple domesticity in Paris.

A reliable spy tells me—and I'm glad I'll be clear of merrie England before it is printed—that the Prince of Wales tailor is actually an Italian in Rome. The same tailor, who demands cash no matter who the customer also fashions spruce habiliments for Douglas Fairbanks.

Prices in London are sky high—at least in the places where we Americans go. A lunch at Claridge's today for three—without wine—was equal to $15.75 cents in honest to goodness money. An evening white vest, pardon, west, that used to cost me $3 is now priced at $21 so this is to notify American vest makers to submit samples. I'm in the local market again.

My wife went to Covent Garden this evening to listen to a mess of

Daily Bible Thought

Heirs of God—Because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of His Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ.—Gal. 4:6, 7.

Land Grows Thin Says A. Schultz Of Kurten Area

Albert Schultz who owns a 300 acre farm ten miles east of Bryan, was a business visitor in Bryan on Saturday. Mr. Schultz is actually cultivating only about 50 acres of his land this year, 30 acres in cotton and the rest in feed and garden crops like tomatoes and potatoes.

Mr. Schultz says that a considerable acreage of his farm has grown thin from washing and over cropping, so that it will be necessary for him to let it lie idle until it rebuilds or apply commercial fertilizer in heavy proportion.

Ten head of cattle, part of dairy breed and part of beef type and 13 head of hogs, make up the livestock kept on the Schultz farm at this time.

Albert Schultz is the eldest son of Mrs. Rosa Schultz, who with her daughter, Miss Clara, resides in the Kurten community. She is the mother of seven sons and two daughters, all born and reared in Brazos county and all of whom are today citizens of the county. Mrs. Schultz has been a widow, since her oldest son was 16 years of age.

Sons and daughters of Mrs. Schultz are: Albert, Charlie, Gus, Louis, Fritz, Henry Arthur, Miss Clara and Mrs. H. Schramm, whose given name is Minnie.

Annual Reunion Of McWhorters Well Attended

An occasion of more than usual interest to a large number of relatives and friends is the McWhorter annual reunion, which takes place in July each year, somewhere on the Navasota river and continues for two days. The annual reunion of this pioneer family began many years ago, and al-

EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

THE DOLLAR-BOOK ARGUMENT

The proposition of dollar books may now be said to have reached the controversy stage. Certain of the publishers who have gone into the dollar book business assert that the innovation has come to stay. On the other hand, the Book Publishers' Research Institute of New York, representing a group of publishers whose point of cohesion is their abstinence from the dollar-book idea, is out with detailed figures showing that at $2.50 the average book is sold at a price so low as to afford only the possibility of a publisher's profit of 6 3-4 cents.

It did not, of course, require exhaustive research to establish this fact. The average book runs 3,720 copies, a number which was ascertained by summing publisher's records. The average publication costs are as follows: Paper and printing, 14 cents; binding and wrapper, 17 cents; plates, 21 cents; advertising costs, 17 cents; sales promotion, overhead and other expenses, 39 cents. These costs total $1.08. The average royalty paid to authors is put at 32 cents, and then the Research Institute says the "usual discount to jobbers and retailers" is allowed, bringing the total cost up to $2.43 1-4. This means that the "usual" discount to jobbers and retailers totals $1.35 1-4.

These figures do not prove that the $1 book can not succeed. Rather do they define the opportunity for the $1 book to succeed. If the publishers who put out dollar books can achieve, by lowering prices, a greater average sale than prevails with the $2.50 book, not only may they continue to put out $1 books but they may make more money for themselves by doing so. The costs instanced by the publishers' research agency above would be trimmed considerably in the case of editions larger than the average. It costs as much, for instance, to make plates for 10 copies as for 10,000.

Of course, the institute's figures prove that the $1 book game is no easy one. The minimum of production costs given is $1.08 on editions of 3,720 copies. The dollar book may trim this a bit by using cheaper paper, cheaper covers and jackets, and may pinch a bit from the advertising and sales promotion appropriations, depending upon the low price to do a part of the book's advertising and promotion. But a great deal can not be saved in this manner. The original cost of publication of a full length novel must remain up very near to the dollar figure for first printing. Thus, if the dollar books are to succeed, they must average more than one printing, so that the printing costs may be still further reduced on a per-volume basis.

At any rate, it is interesting to know that some publishers intend continuing the dollar books. A period of several years probably will be required for a full test of the experiment, and anything less than a full test is undesirable.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Sun-Flower Shows On Texas Egg; Hen Ate Flower Seeds

LIBERTY HILL, July 24.—(P)—The story is vouched for by J. M. Shaw, a local banker, whose Rhode Island Red hen laid the egg.

The egg has imprinted in its shell a well-defined likeness of a sun-flower.

The hen, it was unofficially reported, had been fed on sun-flower seed.

though all of the older members of the family have passed away, the sons and daughters and their children have kept the occasion sacred each year, meeting together and renewing the ties and memories of the long ago.

This year, the reunion took place at the old San Antonio road crossing on the Navasota river, and lasted two days and one night. More than 200 people were camped there for the time, and everybody had a good time. Music, programs of readings and talks with the ever delightful program of camp life, made up the time and delicious meals were served to all present three times a day on the camp ground.

Among those present were four well known fiddlers who added much to the occasion with their fiddle music. These musicians were Joe Wrenn of Normangee; H. Liveley and Tom Shine of Madisonville and Barnes Powledge of Bedias.

Those from Bryan attending the two days of the reunion this year were: Mr. and Mrs. Jim Vance and son Garvin Vance, Mr. and Mrs. Noah McWhorter, Mr. and Mrs. Charley McWhorter and daughter Doris, and Alf Patterson Jr.

H. J. Hornsberry, negro demonstration agent for Brazos county, announces that 300 colored boys and girls and adults representing 4-H Clubs for negroes and the adult community clubs for negroes in the county, are making plans to go to Prairie View by train and automobile on Sunday to attend the annual short course being held at the Prairie View Normal and Industrial College for negroes on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Hornsberry says that stunts to be given by the Brazos county delegation have already been carefully prepared and rehearsed and will include musical numbers by quarters and choruses and a pageant presenting 12 phases of agricultural activities conducive to prosperity, home ownership and better home conditions for negro farmers.

Judging teams have been coached and will enter the competition in livestock, poultry and entomology judging.

Hornsberry has enrolled 260 boys and girls in his 4-H Clubs this year and has six active clubs located in the following communities: Canaan, Harvey, Cedar Creek, Harmon, Roans Chapel and Wellborn.

MEETING HELD SUNDAY DRAWS RECORD CROWD

Fine Work Being Done In Cemetery By Association

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED List Of Pioneers Who Lie In Cemetery Is Given

Descendants of the pioneers of the Wellborn community, with their children and their children's children, gathered Sunday to establish an annual "home coming."

The day was one of more than usual import to Wellborn in that it brought together many of the former residents and many visitors as well as the present residents of the community. The day was spent in reminiscences of days gone by, in fellowship and in planning for the growth and prosperity of the Wellborn community.

On this annual home coming day, the Wellborn Cemetery Association held its meeting and cooperating together, the Wellborn folk, those living there now, and those who formerly lived there, heard the report of the officers of the association and made possible the continuation of the care of the community cemetery for another year.

W. E. Graham was master of ceremonies and introduced the speaker of the day, the services opening at 11 o'clock.

Hon. Oak McKenzie was the first speaker and brought an inspirational message, which was listened to with keen attention and deep appreciation, and he in turn presented Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, who spoke on "The Problems of the Past, the Perils of the Present and the Possibilities of the Future."

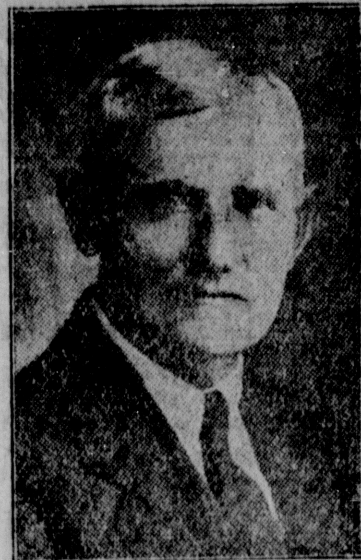

Dinner was served to all present on long tables under the trees near the school and after the delicious noonday meal the former residents and visitors wandered through the cemetery where their loved ones, the pioneers of the hamlet, slept.

At 2 o'clock the meeting was again called to order in the school building by Mrs. J. L. Hensarling, secretary of the association and a full report of the activities of the association was given. While the association is but one year old, having been organized on Sept. 2, 1929, yet it presented a membership of 30 and a great accomplishment.

Annual dues in the Wellborn Cemetery Association are $2 per year and through the management of the association the little cemetery has been converted from a plat of brambles, weeds and rocks to perfect order, beautiful flowers, drives and walks. The appearance of the cemetery compares most favorably with cemeteries of much larger cities, where much money is spent in adornment, beautification and building and it is a credit not only to the members of the association and its officers, but to those in active management of the work.

James H. Walker of Pioneer Texas Stock; Has Unique Service Record

Has Filled Every Berth In General Land Office

J. H. WALKER

The woof and warp that made up the fabric which is the life story of James Hemphill Walker, general land commissioner and candidate for re-election to that office, is of the same material that is woven into the life history of many citizens of the Lone Star State. His boyhood was spent on a ranch in comparative poverty. By a slow and measured process he rose from the status of farm boy to that of farm owner. Then he left the farm and located in town to enter business life.

But for three decades Mr. Walker has served the state without break, establishing a record that is believed unique in Texas history by serving in every position in the general land office over which he now presides as chief.

Born in Johnson county in 1860, Mr. Walker is the son of the late Philip Walker, a native of South Carolina, who came to Texas in 1835 and fought for Texas independence, and of Elizabeth Cooper Walker who came to Texas with her parents in the early days of the Republic.

As a youngster, before he entered school, he had been taught the rudiments of the three R's by his mother. On his first day in school he carried a blue-back speller, Webster's primary dictionary, McGuffey's fourth grade reader and Davis' university arithmetic.

Mr. Walker was married at 21 and his father aided him in establishing himself on a sheep ranch in the Abilene country. The outdoor life tended to improve his health, never good in earlier years, and as he tended his sheep he read Latin and Greek classics and conned every book written in Spanish that was available.

In 1895, Mr. Walker located in Grandview, where he established the Graphic, now the Grandview

Tribune, and a year later he became connected with the First National Bank of Grandview.

After he had read a course in American law, as well as one in Spanish-Mexican law, in 1899 Mr. Walker entered the general land office as a Spanish translator. In 1902 he became chief clerk in the comptrollers office under R. M. Love, and later, during the Latham administration, was assistant financial agent of the penitentiary system, in charge at Rusk. When John Terrell was land commissioner Mr. Walker served as legal examiner of the department and in 1908 he was legal and certificate clerk of the department of education.

When the late Commissioner J. T. Robison became head of the general land office in 1909 the appointment of chief clerk was tendered Mr. Walker, which he accepted. He held this position until the death of Mr. Robison in September, 1929, when he was appointed commissioner by Governor Den Moore.

Mr. Walker is a candidate for election to the office he now holds, subject to the Democratic primary July 26.

Paid for by friends of J. H. Walker.

Hensarling, secretary of the association stated that about $10 was still needed to finish up the cemetery work for the year and this amount with an additional $10 was quickly raised and placed in the treasury. Mrs. Hensarling also thanked all who had so graciously contributed to the day, to those who took part on the program, the visitors who came to spend the day and bring encouragement and inspiration to the work of the cemetery association as it is being conducted.

Officers Re-elected
All officers and directors of the association were re-elected for another year as follows: T. C. Wade, president; Mrs. J. L. Hensarling, secretary-treasurer; D. R. Royder, assistant secretary. Directors: J. L. Hensarling, T. C. Wade, J. A. Gandy, J. H. Atkins, Mrs. D. D. Buckhalter, Mrs. Edna Wade, Mrs. Arthur Gandy, D. R. Royder, Mrs. J. L. Hensarling, Ira Buckhalter, W. E. Gandy and Leila Gentry Ettle.

Among the pioneers of the hamlet who sleep in this cemetery are: Adam Royder, W. B. Edison, M. B. Lackey, Evander Gandy, M. P. McMahan, Jim A. W., J. P., J. H. and Tom Royder, J. H. Parsons, Oscar Watson, Ben Edison, Jack Battle, Ben Gentry, A. B. Gandy, and F. A. Manning.

Descendants who are keeping the home fires burning and carrying on in the Wellborn community are: Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Hensarling, Mr. and Mrs. George Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Todd, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hensarling, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Buckhalter, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dowling, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Barron, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Royder, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hopper, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Neeley, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gandy, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gandy, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Atkin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Atkins, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Parsons, Douglas Royder, Miss Ida Royder, Miss Laura Eidson, Miss Ella Eidson, Willie Dowling and J. S. Royder.

Bryan was represented at the meeting by Oak McKenzie, L. H. Baldwin, Mrs. Leila Gentry Ettle, Mrs. J. M. Creech, Miss Maude Creed, Mrs. O. L. Wilcox, and Mrs. Lee J. Rountree.

many avail themselves of the opportunity to shorten the time required to receive a diploma or to secure additional credits in some chosen line of work. There were 65 students enrolled in this year's summer session.

While the business incidental to the conduct of the summer sessions is conducted entirely through the Bryan board of education, funds to pay salaries to teachers and all expenses incidental to the school's activities are secured by charging each student enrolled a fee sufficient to make the summer school self sustaining. Any balance left from the fees collected during the summer session in excess of salaries and other accounts due are held to the credit of the summer school fund to be applied on the next summer session.

Teachers for the summer term are selected from among those engaged on the regular teaching staff for the winter session and weekly progress reports are made to the parents and guardians of students enrolled in summer courses.

The program for graduation exercises to be held on Friday night will include an address by the class president, Charles Wehrman; a violin solo by Colvin Terrell; an address by Hon. F. L. Henderson, president of the school board, and presentation of diplomas by Supt. H. L. Durham.

Members of the graduating class will include Ansley Colvin Terrell, Clyde Lewis Eden, Jeremiah Merka, Charles Wehrman, Joe McGregor, Milton Cunningham, Robert Lester Cloud, Joe Chanowsky and Ralph Chandler Brogdon.

MUNICIPAL—

and others also emphasized the need of a municipal pool. After some discussion the matter was referred to the Parks and Playgrounds committee, composed of R. V. Armstrong, C. E. Griesser, Ben H. Noel and Joe Kaplan, with instructions to confer with the park board with the view of working out ways and means of having a swimming pool in Sue Haswell Memorial Park next year.

Several years ago, at its on expense, the Bryan Lions Club installed a wading pool in the park for the children, and has since added considerable playground equipment. The club is now willing to sponsor and assist in every way possible the building of a swimming pool, if it is desired by the citizenship of the town and community.

Lion Griesser, chief of the Bryan Fire department, announced that the department now has an inhalator which was recently purchased by the Bryan city commission for use in any cases of deficiency of oxygen such as drowning or being overcome by gas or smoke. Lion Griesser commended the city commission for its forward step in placing this equipment in the hands of the fire department, and stated that it is for public use any time there is need for it.

Miss Ruth Johnson entertained the Lions with several vocal and piano numbers. Miss Johnson has appeared before the club on several occasions and has also taken part in several Lions minstrels. She is always a welcomed visitor.

Lion President Lamar Jones was back in the chair, having just returned from the International convention of Lions Clubs held in Denver, Col., July 16 to 18. President Jones will make his official report of the convention next Tuesday.

President Jones divided the membership of the club into two divisions naming them the "Rough Element" and the "High Brows." These divisions will engage in an attendance and membership contest during the next two months. Lion C. E. Griesser was appointed chairman and Lion C. C. Todd, Jr., vice-chairman of the "High Brows" group, and Lion D. Paul Dansby, chairman and Lion Charles S. Myers, vice chairman of the "Rough Element" group.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN—

Some young, some old, some gray.

There were cozy little dressing rooms

Built up beside the pool,

Which looked clean and inviting,

Attractive, neat and cool;

While the diving boards kept creaking

A merry, cheerful song,

As it plunged the children in the air

To join the swimming throng.

The rich, the poor, the great, the small,

Could take part in the play,

And have a happy, glorious swim

For only a few cents pay,

No need to leave a friend behind

Because they don't belong,

Just add a few more nickles

And bring them all along.

The pool beneath the shade trees

Made Sue Haswell Park complete,

As a place of civic pleasure,

And a pleasant, cool retreat,

Where young folks may foregather

For a happy hour of play;

Where all will feel quite welcome,

And none need stay away.

MANY BRYANITES—

about the grounds could do so. The committees in charge of the barbecue had worked out plans for caring for thousands of visitors and their cars or other vehicles of transportation. One section to the left of the trail had been marked off for wagons and buggies and another for automobiles. No parking was permitted on the highway.

A special stand was erected for the speakers and the program was opened at 11 o'clock by an address by Governor Dan Moody, whose cooperation in the improvement of the historic old highway had been pledged to the citizens who were interested in the improvement and preservation of the road by which many of the pioneer citizens of Texas made their way into the state.

During the afternoon many representatives for state candidates made an appearance on the platform and candidates for district and county office, from each of the four counties, spoke briefly of their candidacy. From the political point of view the meeting was the greatest that has been staged in Texas since the Democratic national convention met at Houston in 1928.

Much impetus was given the improvement of the trail. Since this project was launched 20 miles of the old highway, from Benchley to the river, has been given a 100-foot right of way and on the east side of the river 23 miles have been widened. Through the entire stretch of 43 miles the property owners have given the land for the wider right of way and have moved their fences back without cost. Moreover, every deed for this additional right of way has been secured and filed without any cost to either state or county government. The enterprise is regarded generally as a fine example of cooperation in road planning and making.

East of the Navasota the road has been materially improved, the county standing a part of the expense. On the west side, from the river to Highway No. 6 the work of grading and putting in drainage structures is now in progress and the highway department apparently is laying the foundation on which, at some future day, a hard surface may be placed.

Citizens of the four counties interested in this improvement bore the burden of planning and preparing for the meeting today. They worked with a will and with a fine spirit of cooperation and expressions of admiration and of appreciation for the manner in which all plans had been carried out were heard frequently today.

Among Bryan business houses represented at the barbecue were W. F. Gibbs & Son, Johnson and Rohde, A. M. Waldrop & Co., Wallace Printing Co., Smith and Morgan, First National Bank, First State Bank & Trust Co., City National Bank, C. S. Martin, Armstrong & Armstrong, Allen Academy, C. S. Beckwith, J. L. detail and that after formal approval had been received from federal authorities by the highway commission the matter was in shape to go ahead and contract. The plans for the section from Bryan to Kurten have not been entirely completed, but will be shortly. On the route from Bryan to Caldwell all the field work has been done but the detailed plans have not been worked out. These will be completed, however, as quickly as possible, Mr. Blair stated.

The federal engineers also approved the suggested route for Highway No. 6, south of Bryan and the plans for this section have been completed, he stated, and awaited action by county authorities and then the highway commission.

Negress Is Shot By Daughter-in-Law; Woman Held

Nancy Newton, 65 year old negress living on the Sandy Point road, was shot and almost instantly killed Sunday afternoon at her home by her daughter-in-law, Annie Newton. Members of the family say the shooting was accidental.

Other reports are to the effect that Annie Newton had words with another negress and went into the house for a Winchester rifle, saying she would "kill them all." As she came out of the house with the gun she met her mother-in-law, coming in, and the rifle was discharged. The bullet struck Nancy Newton in the throat, passing through the neck. County Attorney A. S. Ware started an investigation of the case today.

Candidate For Associate Justice Court Of Civil Appeals

JUDGE JAMES P. ALEXANDER

Judge James P. Alexander of Waco, who is a candidate for Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals is a firm believer in the elimination of technicalities and in the speeding up of justice. He says:

"The appellate courts by their decisions have built up such a maze of technicalities that the lawyers themselves no longer understand the rules, and it is next to impossible for the trial courts to try a case without committing reversible error. Business methods and the methods employed in every other profession have been modernized to meet changing conditions, but our courts are still plodding along under the same old rules handed down to them centuries ago, with ever increasing complications. The public will no longer tolerate such procedure. I believe that more active men should be elected to fill the Appellate Courts—men who believe in disposing of cases according to their merits and without regard to technicalities."

Judge Alexander has served in McLennan county many years both as County and District Judge and has been Professor of Law in Baylor University for the past ten years. He is well seasoned in the Law and yet young enough to render active service. He has the endorsement of the leading lawyers throughout the District, some of whom are as follows:

Falls County: Z. W. Bartlett, Ben H. Rice Jr., Cecil R. Glass, Geo. H. Carter, Robt. F. Higgins, T. B. Bartlett, Robert D. Peterson.
Limestone County: B. L. Bradley, L. W. Sheppard, Wm. Kennedy, W. F. Kirby, Scott Reed, Johnson Wakefield, James Kinbell, C. H. Machen, Ben B. Hunt, Owen F. Watkins, A. B. Reynolds, O. M. Wroe, B. W. Miles.
Freestone County: A. B. Gephart, J. E. Woods, Lex Smith, H. L. Williford, R. L. Williford, J. G. Anderson, T. H. Barner, Levi Herring.

Johnson County: B. Jay Jackson, J. N. Bauldwin, W. E. Wauldwin, Roy Anderson, Penn J. Jackson, A. C. Chrisman, T. E. Darcy, M. N. Bauldwin.

McLennan County: He is being actively supported by more than two-thirds of the lawyers of McLennan County, the home of both himself and his opponent.
